bis country is suffering from an reproduction of laws. During the r 1909 there were passed by the eral and State Legislatures over 1900 enactments, syen out of ten of the men elected Congress are lawyers. The lawyer mind looks upon law as the one thing which keeps humanity in the safe and narrow way, just as your religious think that without his particular brand of salvation mankind would run amuck. The people who look to law to save them are already geners. Mankind cannot be legislated into goodness. Morality must spring from the heart to be of avail.

The true function of government is

For the commercial lawyer, whose work is to protect commerce and see that trade moves along safe and legal lines, no word of criticism can be raised.

The shibboleth of the law should be "Getting on, getting on!" The business lawyer removes obstructions from the channel so the ships of process may pass. His endeavors are all tway from litigation, not toward it, the compromises and moved toward it.

to make it easy for all men to do right.

To do wrong always brings a pen alty regardless of law.
Lawyers look upon anything which is not illegal as right.

As a rule they take all the law will give them, and any one who does this, said Macaulay, is a ecoundrel at heart. Lawyers regard the evasion of the law as quite a different thing from its infraction.

In fact, lawyers belong to the criminal class, since their instincts and activities are in the line of exploitation and not creation or production.

If we allow such men to make law for us and then also execute these laws, we deserve the punishment which we bring upon ourselves, as much as did the client who wanted something for nothing in the days of King Arthur, and who was turned over to his own attorney for punishment. The attorneys soaked him with a bill for services that took the fellow's breath and all of his property.

And the precedent still survives. Note the case which came up in Camden last week where the bill brought in by the attorneys was $15,000 in an action involving the collection of $40,000. The lawyers collected the $40,000 and kept it, giving credit on account, leaving a balance due of

Never Look for "OPPORTUNITIES" When Purchasing JEWELRY, Lest You Might Be Disappointed.

IN the Jewelry line, only CERTAINTIES are worth the money. An "opportunity" is only a shade better than an "uncertainty," and so you no can readily see the wisdom of our advice.
